VOLUME 5 1979 NUMBER 1

During the Summer and Fall of the past year, our Township Council carried on their work in temporary accommodation in the old fire hall while a fine renovation job was being done on the old building in the picture. We now have a 2-storey structure which gives much more space for carrying out the increasing responsibilities of local governments. On January first of this year, some of us were amongst the large crowd that attended "Open House" at the Township Hall. Local residents and invited Dignitaries met the members of Council and were entertained by them and their wives. Representatives of the Ministerial Association dedicated the building as a place where decisions would be made and business dealt with that would be in the best interests of our Township. The tower as seen on the building is gone, but the architect would like interested people to work toward having one that would replace it. He would like, as well, to receive old photos that depict various activities that have, through the years, been carried on in the building.

We are indebted for the picture to Norma Simpson Morrison who grew up in Metcalfe and has a collection of coloured village pictures. We should like, at this time to express our sincere sympathy to Norma in the sudden death of her husband Bill, and to her sister Jean Capell whose husband died only a few days later.

The Annual Meeting of the Society will be held February 2 in the Museum at 2:00 p.m. We should like you to come to this Friday meeting if at all possible. We shall be planning, as well, for our "Heritage Day" which falls on Saturday February 17 from 1:00 to 5:00 p.m. There will be a display of Art by Elementary School pupils of the Township as they depict life of by-gone years. We invite members to bring along a contribution for our Bake Table and Afternoon Tea.

We have brochures which can be picked up at the Museum, part of which reads:

"This invitation comes to you from a Munroe, a Campbell, and a Stewart. Don Campbell, 1978 CASSOC Chairman, will be leader and bring his pipes. Alex Munroe of Pickering, Ont. (Tel. 416-839-1826) is the organizer. Alex is a Clan Munro member; his father was at one time chief of the Toronto Gaelic Society. Herb Stewart, since 1970, Director of Travel for the Superannuated Teachers of Ontario..."

If interested write Alex Munroe, 978 Essa Crescent, Pickering L1W 2J1 or Stewart Educational Tours, Box 192, Station "K" Toronto, M4P 2G5.

Included with this Newsletter is the Membership List for 1978. Please inform us of any errors. We are sending your membership card for 1979 if you have paid for the coming year. For those who have paid for more than one year, the treasurer has carefully recorded your fee, but we considered that the book-keeping would be simpler if the cards were sent out one year at a time. We print the financial statement of the Historical Society. That for the Museum will appear in the April Newsletter.

Jennie Dow, Treasurer Historical Society

In the Township at the present time there are at least 3 projects underway by groups that are working to recapture some of the History of the past. A group in Osgoode Village plan a Celebration in 1980 to recognize the fact that the Post Office was established there in 1880. A letter to Mrs. Margaret Robb reads:

"Osgoode Station Post Office - date of opening: 1880, sometime between July 1 and Oct. 1."

During the last 100 years only 5 names appear as Post Master or Post Mistress: Ritchie, Buckles, Cleland, Daley, Faulds, Cleland. Certainly, in a time of Post Office turmoil we can be very proud of the devoted attention that we have enjoyed at the hands of these fine public servants.

A group at Manotick Station are seeking as much information as possible on the establishment and history of that stopping place along the Prescott-Bytown Railway.

An organization with Archie Sayant of Vernon as Chairman is planning the 3rd Annual Pioneer Days Celebration for Osgoode Township. The events will begin on Friday, the last weekend in July. Perhaps you can plan your visit here to take in the interesting events.

During this year we should like to encourage you to write down your stories of the past and send them to us. Who could write more interesting and valuable story books than our own local people? Mrs. Dan Butler, a daughter of Joseph Kelly and Mary Brennan who lived along the River Road, has retained some of the many stories told her by her father who recently died, age 95. As well, she is a story teller in her own right. She tells us:

I remember my first ride in an automobile:

"One early summer evening when I was about 4 years of age, my father and mother took me with them when they were driving to Osgoode Station. After we passed by Boyd's corner, our horse became frightened at something, I don't remember what, and started to run away. My Dad held on to the lines until they snapped. Then he was thrown out. One of the traces broke, too, and the end of the whipple tree came through the dashboard of the buggy. By this time I had fallen off the seat and onto the floor. The curved Iron on the end of the whipple tree pierced my knee. Fortunately the horse stopped beside the high board fence along the railroad track."

"Mr. William Otto, using his thumb, lifted the flesh and removed the hook from my knee. I was taken into the home of the Postmaster, Mr. Oliver Cleland, and I remember Mrs. Cleland standing by with a furry toy rabbit trying to get my attention while Dr. Ruby stitched up my knee. Dad said, "Johnnie Wallace will take us home." When I was carried out to this strange vehicle, the first of its kind in the village. I was surprised that there were little doors in the side that would open. I had thought that one just climbed in over the side. My first Automobile ride I will never forget."

Evelyn Butler, Ottawa.

It is quite probable that a large number of people living at the present time have as yet never had a buggy ride. We are always glad to find records that give us a clearer picture of the lives that our ancestors lived. From the House of Assembly Report for Upper Canada for the year 1835 we read that there were only 4 square or hewed timber one-storey homes in Osgoode during that year. And there were 101 rateable inhabitants who by that time had 852 acres in the township under cultivation. There were 14 horses, 82 oxen, 153 milk cows. But there was one frame house in Russell - quite a mansion for the times - and a mill run by water and 1 pair of horses as well as 2 saw mills. There were only 74 acres under cultivation in Russell. Osgoode had no mills in 1835; in 1842 there was one mill. Smith's Gazeteer for 1842 states that Osgoode had 5,486 acres cleared at that time. Quite a bit of activity was necessary to make such a change in 7 years time. In the Dalhousie District, of which Osgoode was a part, the Magistrates qualified were: John McNabb, Arch'd McDonnell, Alex'r McDonnell, and Henry Harmer.

From the RISE AND PROGRESS OF EMIGRATION printed in 1821 and recently reprinted and available at the Museum for $5.50 we can read the directions for building the first homes in the woods:

"A Hut or Wigwam is generally the first habitation in the woods, and the most simple kind of building. It may be constructed either of a conical or oblong form. The timbers should be spruce poles, 6 to 8 inches in diameter are sufficient, and are easily handled. Take for instance 4 poles of about 15 feet in length, place them about 8 to 10 feet asunder, and sink the lower end of each pole 2 feet into the ground: with 4 pieces of timber form a square sufficient to let out the smoke: incline the poles to the small square at the top... they may be bound together with birch bark or with green birch-wood: the sides may be filled up with the branches of trees. The fire to be kindled in the centre of the floor on fire-dogs of cast iron to admit of air to allow it to burn."

It must have been in Huts such as this or a Shade or Shanty that most of the Osgoode population was living in 1835.

Below is part of a story from one whose life extends back at least half way into those early years:

I REMEMBER

One morning I was in the kitchen of our farm home. My father took me by the hand and I went with him into the next room where a lovely lady was lying in bed. My father said to me, "Kiss your mother." I said to him, "But she didn't kiss me back." I remember that as if it were yesterday, but I know now that it happened one November day in the year 1896 when I was about two and a half years old.

John Stuart came to Canada in the early 1800's along with others from Perthshire and settled in Osgoode. John's oldest son Alexander (Sandy), was married to Lizzie Reid, a pretty little dark girl, when they were both quite young. John was quite proud of his new daughter-in-law and as they were going to church the following Sunday to "show off" there were quite a number of single and double buggies in the procession down the Dalmeny Road. A neighbour by the name of Daniel Campbell leaned out of his buggy and yelled ahead to John Stuart, "Well, John, so your son got an Irisher". That was to take down his pride a bit. They lived in a narrow little world and jealousy was rampant, and if you were not of Scotch descent you were really of no account.

Sandy and Lizzie lived in a brick house, still standing, and had a family of ten, eight of whom were living when the mother died at the age of 47. She was a kind woman and a good neighbour and being a good neighbour cost her her life. A family of McDonalds lived across the road and they were unfortunate enough to get consumption in the family and one after another in the large family died within a few years. They needed help very badly and Lizzie Stuart went to their aid as much as a mother of 8 children could. Only the eldest, Bella, survived. My mother contracted the disease and died in a short time while leaving Sandy with the youngest not much more than 2 years old. No one thought the baby would live, having been with the mother during her illness - but she did live and is 85 years of age as of today, January 18.

The reason that the baby survived was probably because she was constantly with her father, because he had to take her to the field with him and to the blacksmith shop, etc., etc. He never tired of seeing her trot after him and when she got tired following him as he would be ploughing in the field he would take off his coat, spread it on the ground and she would fall asleep and then when his work was done he would carry her home. When a comment was made about our large family, the reply was made,

"But we don't expect Bessie to live." For this reason I was not sent to school until I was 8 years old. Everybody went to Church on Sunday morning and to Sunday School in the afternoon, but at night Sandy stayed at home with the younger children and read them Bible Stories. I, being the youngest, well remember his saying, "Well, what story do you want me to read to-night?" and I would say, "Baby in the Basket". Maybe we did not have a mother but we had wonderful care from our busy father and I never heard him say, "I am too tired".

Sandy was very proud of his Baby and taking her to see her grandmother Reid in Kenmore and looking at her with pride he said, "Bessie is going to be different from the others". Her Grandmother replied, "Never mind, Sandy, when she grows up she will be alright."

Bessie May McKercher, Ottawa, Jan. 18, 1979.

The records at St. Andrews Church, Bytown, show the birth of Grandma Reid. We have recently discovered a micro-film reel M-2365 at the Public Archives that shows early births, beginning 1829, recorded by the Rev. John Cruikshanks. The births and marriages throw additional light on many of our early settlers. Jane McDonald, daughter of John McDonald and Elizabeth McMullen, lost track of her age. She was born January 19, 1831, and therefore arrived in what was to be Kenmore in March of the same year. She was over 90 when she died 1821. The records there include people from Osgoode, Gloucester, McNab, Goulbourne, Nepean, Templeton, Pembroke, Clarence, etc. More will be said of these at a later date.

We have extra copies of the Newsletters for the years 1976-77-78. These are available at the Museum at 25 cents each. And we would remind you that we have copies of the Map of Osgoode Township for the year 1879- exactly 100 years ago. The map indicates the owner of the property at that time. They sell for $1.00 each.
